THAT OXFORD, "OF INEFFABLE CHARM, EVER CALLING US TO THE BEAUTY, WHICH IS TRUTH," WAS IN THE THOUGHTS OF THE GREAT MEN, BISHOPS POLK, OTEY, AND ELLIOTT, WHO FOUNDED THE UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTH. THE DEVELOPMENT OF MIND AND SOUL AND BODY IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF CHRISTIAN CULTURE WAS THE IDEAL TOWARDS WHICH THEY LOOKED AND LABORED. ✧ ✧ AND THROUGH THE YEARS OF STORM AND STRESS, OF PROGRESS AND CHANGE, THE SPIRIT OF SEWANEE HAS BEEN LOYAL TO THAT IDEAL.

THE VISCOUNT HALIFAX

THE CHANCELLOR OF OXFORD UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD, ENGLAND

Board of Education,
Whitehall,
London, E.C.4.

March 20, 1934

Dear Mr. Gault,

I am much interested to know how his year's work of 'left + form' is to be dedicated to Oxford University and the Rhodes Scholars from Sevanee.

I send all my best wishes for the prosperity of the University of the South, and for the strengthening of the ties existing between it and your University Oxford.

Yours sincerely
Halifax

Chancellor of Oxford University

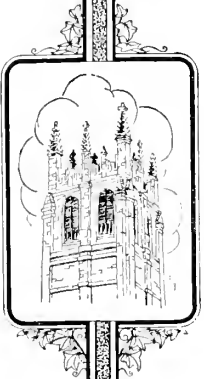

THE RT. REV. THOMAS F. GAILOR
THE CHANCELLOR OF THE UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTH OF SEWANEE, TENNESSEE

Bishop's House,
Diocese of Tennessee,
Memphis, Tennessee,
April 11th, 1934.

My dear Cap & Gown: -
Heartily congratulate you upon the dedication of the crine of your Annual to Oxford University, & the Rhodes Scholars from Sewanee.
At the very beginning of our University the Chancellor &
Vice Chancellors of the University of Oxford were generous contributors to its support; & through all the years Sewanee has been loyal to its Oxford traditions & has faithfully yours,
Thomas F. Gailor
Chancellor of the University

THE BOARD OF REGENTS

The Board of Regents is composed of three bishops, three presbyters, and nine laymen. These members are elected by the Board of Trustees. The Board of Regents is the executive committee of the Board of Trustees and functions primarily in a financial way although it may deal with any phase of the University's interests should it see fit to do so.

PROCTORS

The Proctorial System is maintained at Sewanee for the purpose of enforcing discipline. The Proctors are chosen from the outstanding members of the Junior and Senior classes by the Vice-Chancellor upon recommendations given him by the retiring proctors and the matrons. This system has worked exceptionally well in maintaining discipline among the students. Each proctor is given jurisdiction over one particular dormitory, although his duties are extended to the University campus on many occasions during the year.

HONOR COUNCIL

The members of the Honor Council are elected by the undergraduate students in the University. Their purpose is to act upon any infringements of the Honor Code which has been established at Sewanee for many years. Although they are forced to function but little, their decisions are practically always accepted as the final word by the University authorities.

STUDENT VESTRY

The purpose of the Student Vestry is to keep the students in close communion with the Chapel. It sponsors an excellent Lenten program and handles all financial affairs of the Chapel. There are two members from each class in the University and two men from St. Luke's. All men are elected by their respective divisions of the University.

SEMINARY ACTIVITIES

The members of the seminary do excellent work in the missions and among many poor families on and off the Mountain. Their Sundays are devoted to gaining practical experience from the pulpit when they journey to nearby missions and parishes to preach.

They are more closely connected with the undergraduate activities of the college than might be expected. The Shakespearean Players are composed almost entirely of Seminary students and during the course of the year several excellent performances are given by these Thespians. The Seminary is also represented in intramural athletics and always has creditable teams in the field.

Organizations

FOUNDER'S TOWER, MAGDALEN COLLEGE, OXFORD

THE PHI DELTA THETA FRATERNITY HOUSE, SEWANEE

Fraternities at Sewanee

Fraternities play a very important part in the undergraduate life of the University. Three fraternities, the Alpha Tau Omega, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and the Phi Delta Theta, owned the first house in their respective organizations. The houses are unlike those in the majority of schools, as student members are not allowed to live in them. There are nine national fraternities and one local chapter represented on the Mountain.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

Two representatives from each of the national fraternities comprise the membership of this body which regulates and governs all fraternity activities at Sewanee. Rotation by the fraternities is the means by which the president and the secretary of the organization are determined.

Other Activities

There are a number of organizations at Sewanee other than the fraternities. Some of these societies secure their members by election while others are open to any student wishing to join. All of these organizations fill a very important part in the life of the students here at Sewanee. Organizations rewarding students for distinctive achievements in the field of scholasticism, leadership among the students, and literary ability comprise the majority of the societies listed in the following pages. Debating and oratorical organizations, dramatic and musical organizations are important parts of this extra-curricular program.

PURPLE MASQUE

Undergraduate Dramatic Society

During the year this organization presents several very enjoyable plays under the capable direction of Mr. H. A. Griswold. The most recent performance, "Tons of Money," demonstrated that Sewanee has some very talented amateur players. The undergraduate members were assisted by the Misses Myers, Miss Cravens and Miss Charlotte Vaughan. Mr. T. S. Long also lends his assistance when needed. John Binnington and Robert Daniel were president and secretary of Purple Masque during the past year.

NEOGRAPH

Undergownsmen Literary Society

Neograph is an organization devoted to writing and selects its members from those students who are below the Order of Gownsmen in scholastic rank and who have shown proficiency in English. During the past year, Mr. Jack Franklin served as president of the society and Mr. Arthur Chitty fulfilled the duties of secretary-treasurer.

Student Literary Society

Sigma Epsilon has the distinct honor of being the oldest organization on the Mountain. Its name was derived from the initials of its founder, the Bishop Stephen Elliot. It sponsors debates, orations, readings, and talks in its meetings and has always played an important role in the life of the students.

THE CHOIR

During the past year the Choir has given the University the right to be justly proud of the manner in which they rendered Stainer's Crucifixion during Holy Week. Under the direction of Mr. McConnell and President Starr, the Choir has functioned admirably during the chapel services in All Saints.

Publications at Sewanee

SEWANEE is unusually fortunate in having a number of worthy publications on its campus. The Cap and Gown, The Sewanee Purple, The Mountain Goat, and a literary quarterly, The Sewanee Review, comprise this splendid group of periodicals.

The Cap and Gown as a yearbook began its career in 1891 and has continually improved in giving a concrete account of the life of the students during the course of the year.

The Sewanee Purple came into existence in 1894, having taken over the work of the old Sewanee Times. Twenty-two years before, the University Record, the first publication at Sewanee, was printed. From this early publication, the Sewanee Purple had its foundation. Today it is a weekly newspaper published by the Athletic Board of Control with students directing its editorial policy.

The Mountain Goat is the youngest of all Sewanee publications, having its origin in 1925. It is a humorous publication and has attained a high rank among contemporary college humor magazines.

The Sewanee Review is the oldest living literary quarterly in America and has created for itself a distinguished position among literary quarterlies of this day. The Review was founded by Dr. W. P. Trent in 1892 and since that time has had a number of outstanding men of letters to serve as its editor. Dr. William S. Knickerbocker, Head of the English Department, is the present editor of The Review.

THE SEWANEE REVIEW

DR. WILLIAM S. KNICKERBOCKER
EDITOR

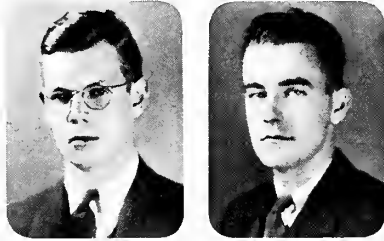

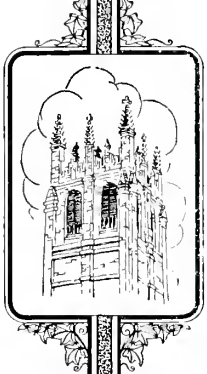

As has been stated before in this edition of the Cap and Gown, the Sewanee Review is the oldest living literary quarterly in the United States. Sewanee is, indeed, proud of the honor which the Review has brought to the Mountain. Under its present editor, the Review has flourished as never before and bids fair to become an even more outstanding publication should the progress thus far shown by Dr. Knickerbocker be continued.

CORPUS CHRISTI COLLEGE, MERTON COLLEGE TOWER IN BACKGROUND, OXFORD

THE LIBRARY WITH BRESLIN TOWER IN THE BACKGROUND, SEWANEE

WE DEDICATE THIS PAGE TO . . .

WILLIE SIX

Hundreds of Sewanee alumni have known and loved Willie Six for twenty-five years. It is fitting that we dedicate this page to our trainer who has faithfully fulfilled every wish of any Sewanee man. Willie never forgets the name of any athlete he has ever served; he has never seen Sewanee scored upon in football, always turning his head when Tiger opponents neared the Sewanee goal; he hasn't missed a football trip for many years, but above everything, he has been a true gentleman in the fulfillment of his multitudinous duties.

And so, Willie, we hope that you will be with Sewanee for another twenty-five years.

OFFICERS

CASTLEBERRY
President

WELLFORD
Vice-President

CRAVENS
Secretary-Treasurer

Head Football Coach
HARRY E. CLARK

Mr. Clark has just concluded his third year as mentor of the Tiger gridmen. During these three years he has given Sewanee teams which have played their larger and oftentimes mercenary opponents completely off their feet. It is fortunate that Mr. Clark will direct the destiny of the team for the coming year.

Assistant Coach
ALLEN LINCOLN

Coach Lincoln came to Sewanee after starring in the Big Six Conference with Missouri. He has helped Sewanee a great deal during his three-year stay and will continue to impart football knowledge to Tiger grid-ders during the approaching fall.

Captain
ALEXANDER WELLFORD

Wellford played by far the best football of his career this season and was elected captain at the conclusion of the season. He scored forty-three of his team's seventy-five points and finished the season as fourth high scorer of the Southeastern Conference.

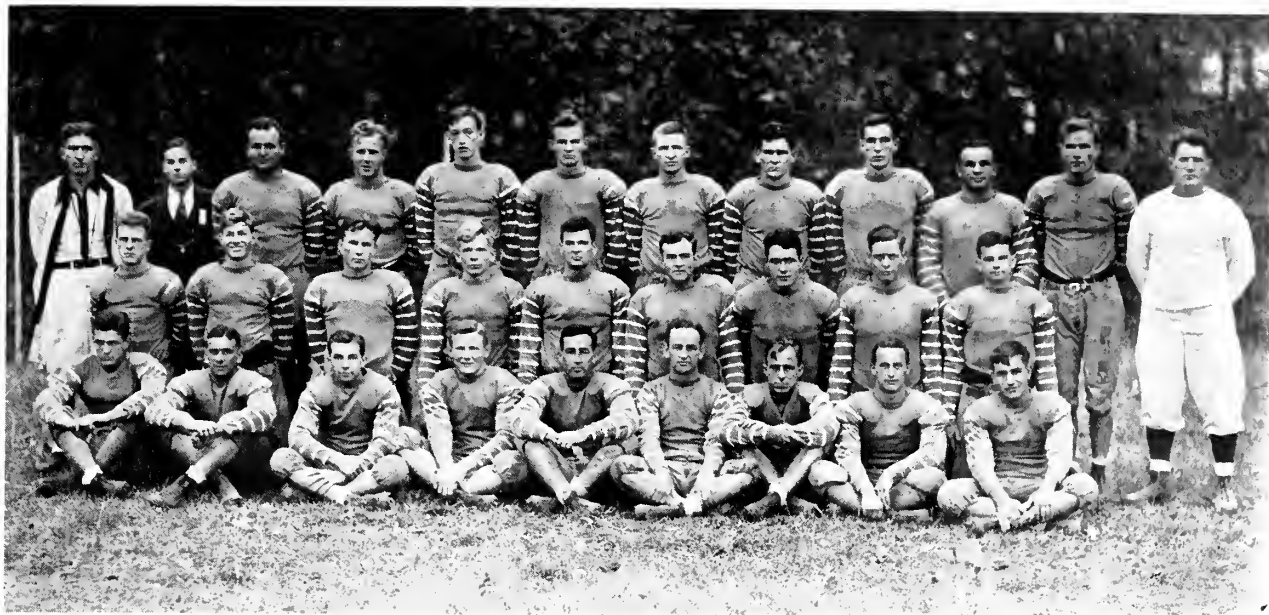

Graduate Manager
GORDON M. CLARK

Coach Clark has served as Graduate Manager of Athletics and Freshman Football Coach for the past several years and has filled his position in a capable manner.

Manager
JAMES KRANZ

Kranz, according to the players on the team, was the best manager the team has had in years. And, curiously enough, he didn't incur the dislike of the players by his efficiency.

THE TIGERS OF 1933

The Sewanee football team had a fairly successful season in the fall of 1933, winning three out of the nine games scheduled. However, it was not the record of wins and losses which was outstanding, it was the total points scored, seventy-five, which more than doubled last year's record. Of the nine games played, the Tigers scored in six, and in these six scored at least two touchdowns in all except one. Vanderbilt, Tulane, Mississippi State, Southwestern, Cumberland, and T. P. I. were all tallied against. Here it might be said that Jack Lawrence kicked six points after touchdown to break the jinx which seemed to be hanging over Sewanee teams in the past few years. Although such men as Wellford, Castleberry, Lawrence, and others are leaving this year, the 1934 team will in all probability be just as good as the team this year and another good season is in evidence.

Sewanee broke a custom of many years' standing during the past gridiron season by opening the fall campaign against a powerful team. The University of Kentucky furnished the opposition for the Tigers and when the final whistle had blown the Wildcats of the Bluegrass State held a seven to nothing edge. This lone tally was the result of a 77-yard sprint late in the final period by Pug Bach, safety man of the victors. Despite the fact that Sewanee lost the game, the Tigers outplayed and outfought the Kentuckians, if one is to go by accounts of the game in Kentucky papers. The final checkup revealed that Sewanee had made four first downs, while Kentucky was only able to gather three. At times, Sewanee showed flashes of offensive power and seemed destined to go a long way in the newly formed Southeastern Conference. Castleberry played an excellent defensive game for the Tigers and Ralph Kercheval gave a fine punting exhibition for the winners.

Seven thousand, five hundred fans turned out in Jacksonville to see the powerful University of Florida gridmen roll over a thoroughly outplayed Sewanee team. The final score of this Tiger nightmare read: Florida 31, Sewanee 0. The Tigers reached the Florida 8 yard line soon after the beginning of the tilt, but the offense that had functioned against Kentucky the previous week bogged down and thereafter the 'Gators had things pretty much their own way. Henderson and McAnly and Stolz were mainly responsible for the Tiger downfall, while Jimmy Blair played a fine defensive game in an otherwise dormant Sewanee line. The terrific heat of the day probably had something to do with the drubbing the Tigers received, but even cool weather wouldn't have prevented those Floridians from scoring on several occasions.

Wellford goes off tackle for five yards in the game with the University of Florida.

Sewanee won her first victory of the year against a hard-fighting Southwestern Lynx on the following Saturday. The Tigers scored early in the initial quarter when Cravens threw a beautiful 30-yard pass into the waiting arms of Pinkie Young, stellar Sewanee end. Lawrence missed the extra point from placement. Soon after the second half began the Lynx scored on a nice pass from Whitaker to Barnes and then Whitaker place-kicked the extra point to give Southwestern a one-point lead. The Tiger was not to be denied and late in the fourth quarter a pass from Wellford to Pearson added the final touchdown of the afternoon. Hayes, Clark, and Blair played fine games for the Tiger in the line and Cravens and Poage shone in the backfield.

"Ole Miss" displayed the brand of football that she exhibited when she tied Alabama earlier in the season against a smaller Tiger eleven and ended up on the long end of a 41-0 score. Homecoming Day proved very satisfactory to all the old grads of Mississippi, as they saw their Alma Mater defeat Sewanee for the third time in the history of football competition between the two schools. The winners were limited to only one touchdown in each of the first three periods but managed to push over three in the final quarter. Earl Hutson was responsible for two of his team's scores, with Gunter, White, Curtis, and Shoemaker accounting for the other four. Richardson, left tackle, made good five out of six tries for extra points. A complete reversal of form was shown by the Tiger in this fourth game of the season and no player was outstanding in this absolute rout.

The Lawyers from Cumberland did not argue with the Tigers when they came to the Mountain and were trimmed, 14-0. After going hungry for two weeks since the Southwestern game, the Sewanee Tiger was out for blood and Cumberland just happened to be their opponent. The visitors were a scrappy bunch and if it had not been for an off-sides penalty on fourth down on the one-yard line, Sewanee would not have scored her first touchdown. Alex Wellford scored both of Sewanee's touchdowns, going over from the one-yard line on each occasion after a long march down the field. After each score, Lawrence sent the pigskin between the uprights for the first extra points in many a year for the Mountain clan. Castleberry and Jimmy Blair continued to play best in the line and were instrumental in allowing the Cumberland team to gain possession of the ball in Sewanee territory only twice during the course of the game. But as might have been guessed, Wellford was the outstanding star of the day, excelling everyone on both teams in every department of the game, and having the longest run of the game, one of forty-four yards, to his credit.

The march toward Vandy was continued at T. P. I. went down before the powerful Sewanee Tiger to give the home team its second consecutive victory, 13-0. The Mountaineers were out to avenge a scoreless tie handed them by the Tech team in 1932 and just could not be stopped by the scrappy visiting eleven. The first score came in the first period when Alex Wellford kept up his terrific line plunging and went over from the one-yard line after a prolonged march toward the Tech goal. Lawrence kicked his third goal in as many tries. The T. P. I. defense tightened and Sewanee had to wait until the final period to ring up her second tally, Wellford tossing to Lawrence over the Tech goal. Jack "Husko" Lawrence played what was considered by many as an inspired game of football. He not only was good in every department of the game; he was exceptional. On one occasion he made the prettiest open field block seen on Hardee Field in many a day.

The renewal of the old feud between Sewanee and Vandy was resumed on Armistice Day, as the Tigers went down 27-14 after having given the Commodores a scare which they will not forget for many a day. On the fourth play of the game, Alex Wellford caught the Vandy team napping and tossed a pass to Jack Lawrence, who sidled across the Vandy goal and then added the extra point from placement to put the Tigers in the lead by seven points. But Vandy got under way after the kick-off and soon tied the score, Overly carrying the ball over from the nine yard line. Not satisfied, Vandy scored again early in the second quarter, a fifteen yard sprint by Vernon Close doing the trick. Smith had kicked both goals and Vandy led by a seven-point margin. But Sewanee was not licked yet and started a march of her own on the Vandy forty yard line, resulting in a score when Wellford went across from the one-yard line. Lawrence tied the score at fourteen all with a perfect kick. In the second half, the Commodores settled down, played heads-up football, and ended the game two touchdowns in the lead. On the first of these, Peebles went over on a sweeping end run after the Tigers had held for three downs inside their own five yard line. The final score came as a result of a sixteen-yard run by Dixon. In the backfield, Wellford was best, accounting for more yardage than any other Tiger back. "Snake" Hayes played a spectacular game in the line with Jimmy Blair running him a close race for honors.

On the following Saturday, the Tiger met defeat by the same two touchdown margin that Vanderbilt had handed them on the previous week-end. Mississippi State conquered Sewanee by the score of 26-13. The Mississippians tallied three times before Sewanee was able to cross their opponents' goal. Sewanee scored in the third quarter when Wellford went over the line. The State team chalked up its final marker of the afternoon soon after. Wellford again scored for Sewanee in the final period. Sewanee ran into a bit of hard luck as two of the Mississippi State touchdowns resulted from intercepted passes. Wellford played a beautiful game in the Tiger backfield and Hanson and Castleberry showed up well in the line.

Sewanee scored nine points against the strong Tulane team as the big Green Wave defeated the Tigers by a score of 26-9. The 1933 Mountain team wound up its season in New Orleans with 8,000 fans looking on in a clean, hard-fought game against one of the best teams in the new Southeastern Conference. Alex Wellford, shining light in the Tiger backfield, was the instrument by which Sewanee scored her touchdown. He also booted the extra point to run his season's scoring total to forty-three points, a remarkable record for a team which scored a total of seventy-five points. Simons, star Greenie half, started the game off with a bang, scoring two touchdowns in the first period. Not long after the opening quarter had ended, Bryan took a short flat pass on his own 35-yard line and scampered sixty-five yards for the third Tulane score. Mintz made the total twenty-six points in the third stanza with a short dash to score. Hayes was responsible for Sewanee's remaining two points when he tackled Bryan behind his own goal line in the second period. Castleberry and Hayes shone in the line and Wellford was best in the backfield.

Alex Wellford, Woodrow Castleberry, and Jack Lawrence were asked to participate in the charity football game played in Knoxville on New Year's Day. Wellford and Castleberry made the trip up to Knoxville and played excellent football, but Lawrence was unable to make the trip from his Crowley, La., home.

Wellford was also honored by his teammates by being elected the most valuable man on the 1933 squad.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

The Freshman team, under the capable coaching of Gordon Clark and his assistant, Jody Kellerman, concluded its season in a blaze of glory by defeating the Vandy Frosh in the final game of the season after having lost one game and tied another.

The first game of the season was against Montgomery-Bell Academy of Nashville, the final score being 19-6 in favor of the visiting eleven. In the very first quarter of the game, Colmore, powerful Purple fullback, tossed a pass to Ravenel, who tore through the whole M.-B. A. for a touchdown, making a total gain of fifty-one yards. The try for extra point failed and Sewanee led by six points. This seemed to put new life in the M.-B. A. team, for in each of the following quarters a touchdown was scored by Epperson, fleet halfback for the visitors. Sneed, Colmore, Ravenel, and Dedman were best for Sewanee.

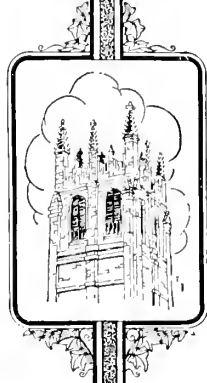

Castle Heights Military Academy furnished competition in the second contest. This game ended in a scoreless tie, neither team threatening to score at any time during the game. A dense fog settled down on the field shortly after the beginning of the second half, and play from that point on was hardly visible. Duke for Castle Heights was most outstanding on his team, with Patton, center, doing well in the line. Wyatt Brown, Sneed, Colmore, and Campbell played best for the Yearlings.

But it was in the Vandy Frosh game that the Baby Tigers did themselves proud. Throughout the entire course of the game the Sewanee team outfought, outran, and generally outplayed the Little Commodores, coming out on the long end of a 14-7 score. The first touchdown came as a result of a prolonged march down the field, which culminated in a perfect pass from Colmore to Eustis for the points. Colmore made good the extra point from placement as the gun ending the half was shot. The second tally came a few minutes after the second half had begun, Wyatt Brown accounting for it on a line play. Colmore again made good the kick to put his team out in front by fourteen points. Late in the final period Williams ran back Colmore's punt fifty-four yards for the lone Vandy score. Brown and Harrison were best at carrying the ball for the yearlings, with Dedman and Shelton performing well in the line. Williams was the shining light for the losers.

Seventeen players were presented numerals: Bolling, Colmore, Shelton, Campbell, Moore, Lumpkin, Dedman, Eustis, Sneed, Harrison, Brown, Turner, Ravenel, Hart, McKenzie, Fleming, and Camors. Without doubt these men will be a great help to Coach Harry Clark in filling up some of the graduation vacancies in the varsity next fall.

First row: Wheat, Campbell, Colmore, Crook, Craig, Eustis, Oldham, Asst. Coach Kellerman.
Second row: Henry, the trainer; Camors, Moore, Turner, Blackwood, Bailey, Shelton, Sneed (Captain), Williams, Coach Clark.

The 1934 basketball season was without doubt one of the most disastrous in the history of the University of the South. With only three of the 1933 letter men back this year around which to mould a team, Coach Lincoln found an almost impossible task. Together with this difficulty there were several other difficulties, including the arrangement of the games on the schedule. With only a few days' practice before the Christmas holidays and a scant two days after the vacation, the Tigers left the Mountain on their first trip of the season. The season was inaugurated with a two-game stand in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, their opponents being Louisiana State University. These two contests went to the home team by overwhelming scores, 80-20 and 60-9. Resting over Sunday the Mountain five continued to New Orleans, where Tulane University served as hosts. Again Sewanee was on the short end of the score in a pair of games, 35-18 and 45-22, following which the tired but not undaunted Purple team returned to the Mountain. And were they given the rest which they so much needed? No. The Conference champions from the University of Kentucky invaded and added a victory to their long string, the score being 55-16.

After a week's practice the team engaged Georgia Tech, and in this game displayed the best brand of basketball that they exhibited throughout the entire season. Although defeat was again tasted, the taste was not nearly so bitter as in previous games, for the final score showed the Tigers trailing by a single point, 40-39. Incidentally, in this game "Bud" Pearson tied the individual conference scoring record with twenty-one points. Vanderbilt, Sewanee's traditional rivals, were the Mountain's next invaders, carrying back to Nashville a 60-28 victory. Mercer College, from Macon, Georgia, followed close upon the heels of Vandy and were also successful in winning from a much inferior Sewanee quintet, 53-13. An upset featured the next cage battle, as the Jacksonville (Alabama) State Teachers College visited Sewanee with only five men and garnered a 37-30 victory to close the home campaign of the Tigers.

Two trips brought the fruitless season to a close. Nashville was the first stop, and the Black and Gold of Vanderbilt conquered a fighting Purple Tiger, 40-27, a marked improvement over the previous meeting of the two teams. On the following night Sewanee happened to be in the way of a new record for consecutive wins in college competition, and the result was a decisive 60-15 victory for the University of Kentucky, setting the record at twenty-three in a row. After a three-day rest the varsity again packed up and travelled to Macon, Georgia, in which town Mercer again emerged triumphant, but by a much diminished margin, 52-35. In the final game Georgia Tech was met in Atlanta and gave the Purple basketball team their thirteenth straight defeat in a most emphatic manner, 43-27. Thus was completed a season which is unprecedented in the history of the school, not a single win having been registered against a total of thirteen losses. But looking on the bright side of things, it is noticed that there were several sophomores who showed up well throughout the season, and together with the oncoming freshmen a much more successful season is anticipated for 1935.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The Freshmen in the University produced a squad of ten good basketball players and the result was a most successful season for the Class of 1937 in this particular sport. Coach Kellerman took these men and, in five out of a total of eleven games, sent a quintet out on the floor which came off triumphant. Although the average for the season was slightly under five hundred per cent, several very creditable wins were registered by the yearlings. All competition was furnished by neighboring prep and high schools, but in several cases the teams were much better than the ordinary college freshman quints. Probably the most outstanding victories were over McCallie, 32-23; Baylor, 17-14; and Battle Ground, 19-16. Each of these teams stands high in prep circles in this part of the South. Sewanee Military Academy and Winchester High School also fell before the onslaught of the Baby Tigers. The Frosh went down in defeat before the strong fives of Bradley County High School in Cleveland, Tennessee, Montgomery-Bell Academy, Huntland High School, Chattanooga High, Winchester High, and Columbia Military Academy.

It is hard to say who was most outstanding in the line-up of the Freshman team, several names coming up as such an honor is considered. In the forward position Marshall Turner and Hugh Shelton were mainstays and did most of the scoring for the quint. Rupert Colmore stands head and shoulders above any other contender for the center position and was one of the most valuable men on the squad. Bert Dedman and Pete Wright held down the position of guards as well as the score of the opposing teams in a most convincing manner. Besides this starting array, Francis Holmes and Charlie Giraud came in whenever needed in their respective positions of guard and forward. With this material it is certain that some of these names will be gracing the varsity line-up next year.

VARSITY TRACK

Considering the fact that this is the first year in three springs that Sewanee has had a varsity track team, the Tiger trackmen have done very well. Coaches Lincoln and Willey have produced a team which has shown a great deal of promise for future years and have succeeded in leading their men to one victory in the two meets held before the Cap and Gown went to press.

Sewanee lost the first meet of the season with Vandy by the slim margin of six points, the final result being  $61\frac{1}{2}$  to  $55\frac{1}{2}$ . The Tigers captured nine out of fifteen first places and only lost through their inability to grab more second places.

Southwestern furnished the opposition for the Tigers in the next meet, but the Lynx were soundly thrashed, 68 to 42. Barnes of Southwestern carried away high point honors by tallying eighteen points, while Doc Cravens led the Tigers with fifteen points to his credit. Castleberry broke a record which has been standing for 13 years on the Mountain with a fine mark of 43 feet, 10 inches in the shot put.

The third meet of the season was held in Nashville with Vandy again the opponents. The result of the meet could not be printed, as the deadline for copy arrived before the meet took place.

The Freshmen also organized a track team this season and several of their members are certain to add considerable strength to the varsity next year.

VARSITY TRACK TEAM

First row: EBY, DRANE, KRANZ, STARR, TISON, GIBSON, ADAIR, F. CLARK.

VARSITY TENNIS

As the Cap and Gown goes to press, the tennis team has been successful in winning four matches while losing three and tying one. Since the next three teams to be met by the Tigers are weaker than the aggregations thus far encountered, the chances are that the Sewanee racquet wielders will end the season with a very good record.

Sewanee won the opening match against Mississippi State here on the Mountain, 4-2. The next match brought victory home to the Mountain from Chattanooga, where the Tigers defeated the University of Chattanooga, 5-1. Vanderbilt handed the Sewanee team its first defeat of the season by winning seven of the nine matches. A match with the University of Tennessee in Knoxville was rained out and on the following day T. P. I. tied the Tigers, 3-3. Vanderbilt was met at Sewanee on the next day and again the Tigers lost, 5-4. T. P. I. played a return match with Sewanee here on the Mountain and was soundly beaten, 5-1. Alabama brought a powerful team to the Mountain and Sewanee went down, 6-0. The Tigers were without the services of Wellford, their number one man, however. The University of Tennessee was finally played and beaten; the match taking place on the Mountain and the result showing that Sewanee had won five out of the seven matches. Matches with Chattanooga, Emory, Murfresboro Teachers, and Southwestern remain on the Sewanee schedule.

The play of Alex Wellford, number one man and captain of the Sewanee netters, has been the most outstanding event of the season. Wellford has displayed the form that should carry him well into the final rounds in the tournaments to be held in Atlanta and New Orleans during the middle of May.

The rapid development of John Tison and Homer Starr has enabled the team to win a number of matches which were not counted on before the season got under way.

INTERFRATERNITY ATHLETICS

Although the race for the Interfraternity Athletic Cup hasn't been concluded at the time the annual goes to press, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity has cinched first place for the fifth time in the past six years. Last year the Sigma Nu's and the S. A. E.'s tied for first honors, but it was decided that each fraternity be given a leg on the cup which was offered for the first time last year.

Sigma Nu's Win First Cross-Country Race

The Sigma Nu's won the first cross-country race in the history of interfraternity athletics at Sewanee by presenting a well balanced team that easily came in ahead of their nearest rivals, the S. A. E.'s.

First Annual Volleyball Championship Goes To Sigma Nu's

The Sigma Nu's further increased their lead over the rest of the fraternities by winning the volleyball title by defeating the Phi Delta Theta's in the final game of the season. Jack Morton was the outstanding man on the winning club.

Handball Title Goes To S. A. E.'s For Third Straight Year

A veteran handball team composed of Morey Hart and David Clark gave the S. A. E.'s an easy victory over the Sigma Nu team of Tison and Rowe in the final match of the tournament. The winners won the title with the loss of but fifteen points in the last three games.

S. A. E.'s Annex Basketball Crown

In one of the most exciting games ever seen on the Mountain, the S. A. E.'s defeated the Sigma Nu's by the score of 16-14 in the final tilt of the season. By virtue of their victory the winners finished the season unbeaten to wrest the title held by the Pi Kappa Phi's for the past two years. The Sigma Nu's finished in second position and the Pi Kappa Phi's gained third place.

Track Diadem Won By S. A. E.'s

Continuing their mad march to the cup, the S. A. E.'s surprised everybody on the Mountain by nosing out the A. T. O.'s and the Phi's in the track meet. Although the winners captured less first places than either the A. T. O.'s or the Phi's, their ability to pile up points in the remaining places enabled them to win the championship.

S. A. E.'s Hold Edge in Tennis Tournament

With Hugh Shelton already in the final round and Bert Dedman in the semi-final stage of the tournament, the S. A. E.'s are in a fair way to win the interfraternity tennis title. Stuart Hull, a Stray Greek, is Dedman's opponent in the semi-final match remaining to be played.

Three Teams Tied in Baseball Race

A triple tie exists between the S. A. E.'s, the Pi Kappa Phi's, and the Phi Delta Theta's at the time the annual goes to press. The Phi's lost to the S. A. E.'s, 5-0 in an early season game, but defeated the Pi Kappa Phi's later during the season, when Jack Lawrence broke up an extra inning game with a home run to give the Phi's a 3-2 victory. The Pi Kappa Phi's handed the S. A. E.'s their first defeat in four years when Charlie Underwood pitched a no-hit game against the defending champions to win, 2-0. The tie will necessitate a play-off between the three teams.

Golf and Swimming Titles Undecided

Sam Powell, Phi Delta Theta, and Underwood and Dyer, both Pi Kappa Phi's, are the remaining men in the golf tournament. So evenly matched are these men that it is impossible to forecast who the new champion will be.

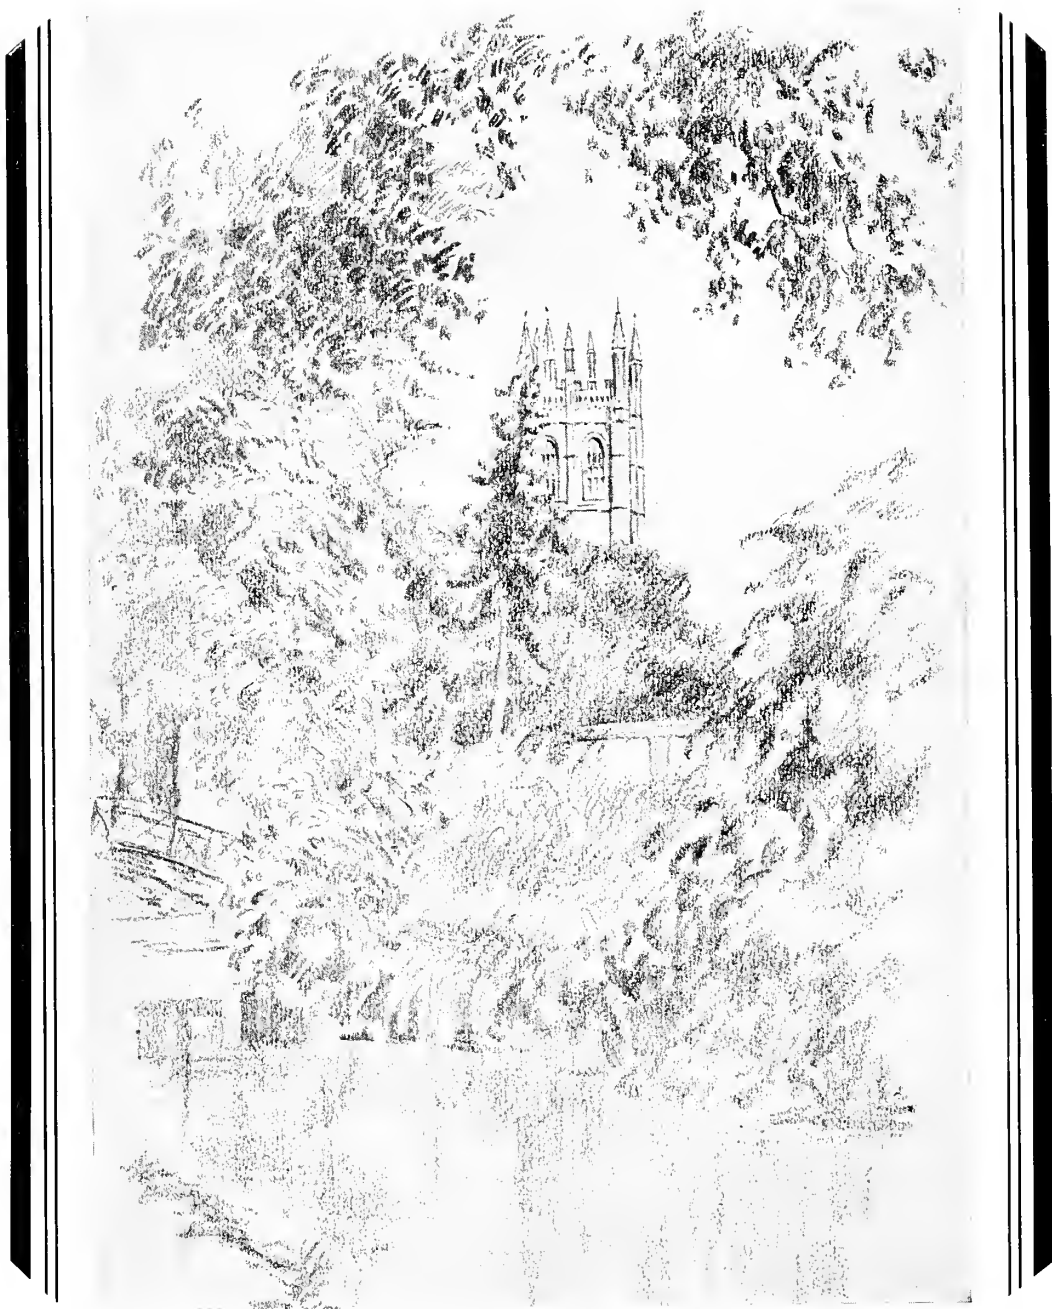

The swimming meet hasn't been held as yet, but it seems that the Sigma Nu's, the defending champions of the past several years, and the Phi's and the S. A. E.'s are the three fraternities possessing the most powerful teams in the meet.

The Cap and Gown Presents

A section which has within its borders a multitude of things which we believe will be of great interest to students and alumni of the University. We have done away with the customary humor section this year with the thought that the subscribers of the annual would like something similar to the following pages a bit more than the contents of the feature section of previous Cap and Gowns.

We present the officers of the two German Clubs and some account of their activities during the year on the two pages following these explanatory pages.

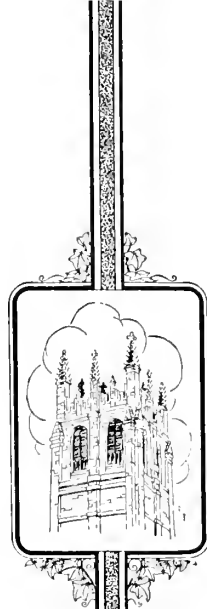

The dances sponsored by the German Clubs should naturally be followed by a number of beautiful young ladies who have honored the Mountain by their presence at the dances, and so the beauty section is next offered for your approval.

One of the most outstanding events to take place on the Mountain was the celebration of Chancellor Gailor's fortieth anniversary as Bishop of Tennessee last July. The gala occasion was attended by dignitaries of both the Church and State, and a page of snapshots taken during this affair is certainly not out of the bounds of University life.

Next follows three pages of snapshots of the Alpha Tau Omega, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and the Phi Delta Theta fraternities. These fraternities are to be thanked for their action in maintaining a custom which has long permitted the Cap and Gown to present a pictorial section devoted to the fraternity life at Sewanee.

We are exceedingly grateful to Mr. William Alexander Percy for permission to print his essay on "Sewanee" in this edition of the "Cap and Gown." It is unfortunate that more persons are not familiar with this beautiful description of Sewanee and we print it with the hope that every reader of this year's annual will derive from its contents the fullest possible pleasure.

Miss Ethel M. Dell, the Walter Hines Page Senior Scholar for the past year and a very well known Englishwoman, gives us the final offering of this feature section. Last fall we were honored to have Miss Dell pay a visit to the Mountain, and since returning to England she has sent a letter to the editor expressing her impression of Sewanee. By reading between the lines we have hazarded a guess that she too, thinks of Sewanee as something of an Arcadia. We are indeed fortunate to be allowed the privilege of printing her letter.

THE GERMAN CLUBS

The Senior German Club is composed of all Gownsmen attending the dances, while the undergownsmen attending the affairs make up the membership of the Junior German Club. During the course of the year, the Senior and Junior Clubs gave a number of dances, the Pre-Lenten, the Easter, and the Commencement sets being the most outstanding. A good many week-end dances were also given by the two clubs.

For the week-end affairs, the German Clubs got some nearby orchestra, but for the three major social events of the year, a nationally known orchestra was secured.

Joe Sanders and his famous orchestra furnished the music for the Pre-Lenten dances. Because the spring vacation interfered with the Easter dances, the German Clubs were forced to secure an orchestra not so well known nationally but one which supplied those attending the festivities with excellent music. Buddy Miller and his orchestra played for this set of dances, which culminated in a "Kid Party" on the last night.

Mal Hallett has been secured for the Commencement dances, and from all reports he will bring one of the best orchestras that has ever played at any Sewanee dances.

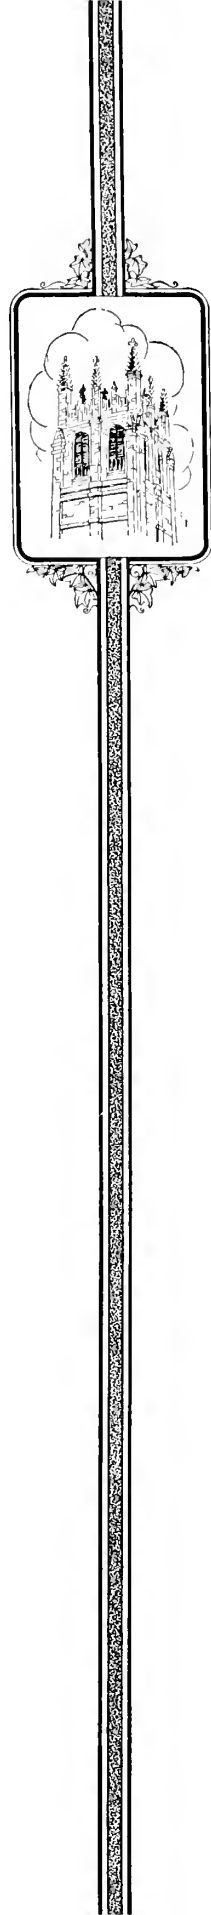

Mr. H. A. Griswold has generously contributed his services during the year by supervising the decoration of the gym for the three major sets of dances. The Commencement dances promise to surpass anything ever attempted before in decorating the gym. Mr. Griswold has conceived plans for transforming the gym into a large Colonial mansion surrounded by the beauties of nature which only early summer can bring forth.

By WILLIAM ALEXANDER PERCY

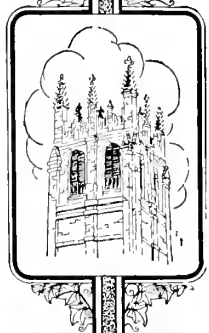

[Editor's Note.—"The Cap and Gown" is extremely grateful to Mr. Percy for his permission to publish his essay on "Sewanee." We also wish to thank Dr. W. S. Knickerbocker, editor of the "Sewanee Review," for granting us the "Review's" permission to reprint this delightful essay.]

The college has about three hundred young men or inmates, or students as they are sometimes called, and besides, quite a number of old ladies, who always were old ladies, and who never die. It's a long way, even from Chattanooga, in the middle of the woods, on top of a bastion of mountains crenelated with blue coves. It is so beautiful that people who have once been there, always, one way or another, come back. For such as can detect apple green in an evening sky, it is Arcadia—not the one that never used to be, but the one that many people always live in; only this one can be shared.

In winter there is a powder of snow; the pines sag like ladies in ermine, and the other trees are glassy and given to creaking. Later, arbutus is under the dead leaves where they have drifted, but unless you look for it betimes, you'll find instead puffs of ghost caught under the higher trees, and that's dogwood, and puffs of the saddest color in the world that's tender too, and that's redbud, which some say is pink and some purple and some give up but simply must write a poem about. The rest of the flowers you wouldn't believe in if I told you, so I'll tell you: anemones and hepaticas and blood-root that troop under the cliffs, always together, too ethereal to mix with reds and yellows or even pinks; and violets everywhere, in armies. The gray and purple and blue sort you'll credit, but not the tiny yellow one with the bronze throats, nor the jack-rabbit ones with royal purple ears and faces of pale lavender that stare without a bit of violet modesty. If you've seen azalia—and miscalled it wild honeysuckle, probably—you still don't know what it is unless you've seen it here, with its incredible range of color from white through shell pink to deep coral (and now and then a tuft of orange that doesn't match anything else in the whole woods), and its perfume actually dangerous, so pagan it is. After it you'd better hunt for a calacanthus with brown petals (what else likes its petals brown?) and a little melancholy in its scent, to sober you. We call our bluets "innocence," for that's what they are. They troop near the iris, which when coarsened by gardens some call fleur-de-lis, and others, who care nothing about names, flags. Our orchids we try to make respectable by christening them "lady-slippers," but they still look as if they had been designed by D. H. Lawrence,—only they're rose and canary colored.

After Orion has set—in other words, when the most fragile and delicate and wistful things have abandoned loveliness for fructifying—the laurel, rank and magnificent for all its tender pink, starts hanging bouquets as big as hydrangeas on the innumerable bushes. But on moonlight nights there's no use trying to say it isn't glory and a madness! And so the summer starts—summer, when we're not seraph-eyed enough to see flowers even if there were any. In the fall when our souls return, a little the worse off, a little snively, there are foggy wisps of asters whose quality only a spider would hint at aloud, and in the streams where the iris foregathered there are parnassia, the snowdrop's only kin. Mountain-folk alone have seen their virginal processions, ankle deep in water, among scarlet leaves, each holding a round green shield and carrying at the end of a spear, no thicker than a broomstraw, a single pale green star. Last, chilly and inaccessible and sorrowful, in the damp of the deep woods, come the gentians, sea-blue and hushed.

Now all these delights the Arcadians not infrequently neglect. You might stroll across the campus and quadrangles of a sunny afternoon and guess from the emptiness and warm quiet there that they had gone out among the trees, lying perhaps in shadow, idly, like fauns, and whistling at the sky. Some may be so unoccupied, though not faun-like to themselves. But more I fear will be amiably and discreetly behind closed doors on the third floor, playing not flutes or lyres or even saxophones, but poker. Still others will be bowed over a table, vexed to the soul with the return of Xenephone the fall, too long delayed, of a certain empire. A few will be off in the valley bargaining for a beverage called mountain-dew with a splendid virile old vixen who in that way has always earned a pleasant livelihood. Later they will have consumed their purchase to the last sprightly drop and will be bawling out deplorable ballads and pounding tables and putting crockery to uncouth noisy uses in the neighborhood of one or another of the old ladies, who will appear scandalized as expected, but who in the privacy of their chambers will laugh soundlessly till their glasses fall off their bosoms and have to be wiped with handkerchiefs smelling of orris root.

Yet I would not have you think that the Arcadians are all or always ribald. Even those with a bacchic turn are full of grace and on occasion given to marvels. I myself have witnessed one of them in the ghastly dawn, slippered and unpantalooned, his chaplet a wet towel, sitting in the corner of his room, his feet against the wall, quite alone, reading in a loud boomy voice more beautiful than chimes Kubla Khan and the Ode to a Nightingale. One afternoon of thick sunshine I was audience to another who stood on an abandoned windlass with tulip trees and a blue vista for backdrop reciting pentameters, which though you may never have heard we thought too rich and cadenced for the race of men ever to forget. I can remember them even now for you:

I dreamed last night of a dome of beaten gold
 To be a counter-glory to the Sun.
 There shall the eagle blindly dash himself,
 There the first beam shall strike, and there the moon
 Shall aim all night her argent archery;
 And it shall be the tryst of sundered stars,
 The haunt of dead and dreaming Solomon;
 Shall send a light upon the lost in Hell,
 And flashings upon faces without hope—
 And I will think in gold and dream in silver,
 Imagine in marble and in bronze conceive,
 Till it shall dazzle pilgrim nations
 And stammering tribes from undiscovered lands,
 Allure the living God out of the bliss,
 And all the streaming seraphim from heaven.

Perhaps a poet whose dear words have died should be content if once, no matter how briefly, they have made two lads in a greenwood more shimmery and plumed.

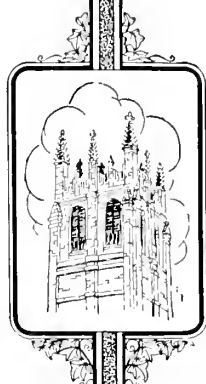

Nights, spring nights in special, temper and tune the Arcadian soul to very gracious tintinnabulations. Three Arcadians on one occasion, I recall, sat through the setting of one constellation after another on a cliff in the tender moonlight with a breathing sea of gray and silver tree-tops beneath them and discussed the possibility and probability of God. One, upholding the affirmative, announced that he need no proof of divinity beyond the amethyst smudge on the horns of the moon. This was countered by the fact that this purple lay not in the moon itself but in the observer's eyes. The deist, troubled, at last concluded anyway he'd rather be a god looking out than look out at a god. Only this was all said with humor and a glistening eagerness—a sort of speech I could once fall into, but long ago.

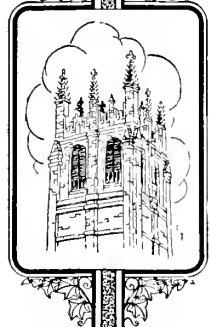

Myself one of these mountain dwellers for four years, I have observed them, off and on, for twenty more. It is to be marvelled at that they never change. They may not be quite the same faces or the precise bodies you met a few years back, but the alterations are irrelevant—a brown eye instead of a blue one, a nose set a little more to the left. The limning is the same. Neither from experience nor observation can I say what they learn in their Arcadia, though they gad about freely with books and pads. Indeed, many of them attempt to assume a studious air by wearing black Oxford gowns. In this they are not wholly successful, for, no matter how new, the gowns always manage to be torn and insist on hanging from the supple shoulders with something of a dionysiac abandon. Further, even the most bookish are given to pursuing their studies out under the trees. To lie under a tree on your back, overhead a blue and green and gold pattern meddled with by the idlest of breezes, is not—d spite the admirable example of Mr. Newton—conducive to the acquisition of knowledge. Flat on your stomach and propped on both elbows, you will inevitably keel and end by doting on the tint of the far shadows, or, worse, by slipping into those delightful oscillations of consciousness known as cat-naps. I cannot, therefore, commend them for erudition. So it is all the more surprising that in after years the world esteems many of them learned or powerful or godly, and that not infrequently they have been the chosen servitors of the destinies. Yet what they do or know is always less than what they are. Once one of them appeared on the first page of the newspapers because he had climbed with amazing pluck and calculated foolhardiness a hitherto unconquered mountain peak, an Indian boy his only companion. But what we who loved him like best to recall about that exploit is an inch cube of a book he carried along with him and read through—for the hundredth time, likely—before the climb was completed. It was Hamlet. Another is immortal for cleansing the world of yellow fever, but the ignorant half-breeds among whom he worked remember him only for his gentleness, his directness without bluntness, his courtesy which robbed obedience of all humiliation. Still others I understand have amassed fortunes and—to use a word much revered by my temporal cotenants—succeeded. The success I suspect was in spite of their sojourn in our greenwoods. The Arcadians learn here—and that is why I am having such difficulty in telling you these things—the imponderables. Ears slightly more pointed and tawny-furred, a bit of leafiness somewhere in the eyes, a manner vaguely Apriline—such attributes though unmistakable are not to be described. When the Arcadians are fools, as they sometimes are, you do not deplore their stupidity, and when they are brilliant you do not resent their intellectuality. The reason is, their manners—the kind not learned or instilled but happening, the core being sweet—are far realer than their other qualities. Socrates and Jesus and St. Francis and Sir Philip Sydney and Lovelace and Stevenson had charm; the Arcadians are of that lineage.

What Pan and Dionysos and the old ladies dower them with is supplemented by an influence which must appear to the uninitiated incompatible. By the aid of a large bell jangled over the sleeping heads from the hands of a perambulating negro, the Arcadians at seven each morning are driven, not without maledictions, to divine service. A minute before the chapel bell stops ringing, if you happen to be passing, you may imagine the building to be on fire, for young men are dashing to it from every corner of the campus, many struggling with a collar or tie or tightening a belt in their urgent flight. But at the opening of the first hymn you'll find them inside, seated in rows, as quiet as love birds on a perch. More quiet, in fact; as the service progresses you might well mistake their vacuity for devotion, unless you happen to notice the more nocturnal souls here and there who sagging decorously have let the warm sleep in.

Nevertheless, the Arcadians add to their list of benefactors those elderly gentlemen about King James who mistranslated certain Hebrew chronicles and poems into the most magnificent music the human tongue has ever syllabled. In their litanies should be named no less those others (or were they the same?) who wrote the Book of Common Prayer. Each morning these young men hear floating across their semi-consciousness the sea-surge of their own language at its most exalted—clean and thunderous and salty. Some of the wash of that stormy splendor lodges in their gay shallows, inevitably and eternally. Who could hear each morning that phrase “the beauty of holiness” without being beguiled into starrier austerities? If someone daily wished that the peace of God and the fellowship of the Holy Ghost be with you always, could it help sobering and comforting you, even if God to you were only a gray-bearded old gentleman and the Holy Ghost a dove? Suppose you had never rambled from the divine path farther than the wild-rose hedge along its border, still would not the tide of pity for the illness of things rise in your heart at hearing "We have wandered and strayed from thy ways like lost sheep"? Lusty Juventus hereabouts may reflect and forget that there was a modern spiciness in the domestic difficulties of David, but it treasures unforgettably "The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament sheweth his handiwork" and "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures, he leadeth me beside still waters." Such glistening litter is responsible, perhaps, for the tremulous awe and reverence you find in the recesses of the Arcadian soul—at least you can find it if you are wary and part very gently the sun-spotted greenery of Pan.

Girders and foundations are fine things; and necessary, no doubt. It is stated on authority the creaking old world would fly into bits without them. But after all what I like best is a tower window. This hankering is an endless source of trouble to me and I like to think to myself, in defence, that it comes from having lived too long among mountain folk. For they seem always to be leaning from the top of their tower, busy with idle things; watching the leaves shake in the sunlight, the clouds tumble their soundless bales of purple down the long slopes; the seasons eternally up to tricks of beauty; laughing at things that only distance and height reveal humor in; and talking, talking, talking,—the enchanting unstained silver of their voices spilling over the bright branches down into the still and happy coves. Sometimes you of the valley may not recognize them, though without introduction they are known of each other. But if some evening a personable youth happens in on your hospitality, greets you with the not irreverent informality reserved for uncles, puts the dowager empress of Mozambique, your house-guest, at her ease, flirts with your daughter, says grace before the evening meal with unsmiling piety, consumes every variety of food and drink set before him (specializing on hot biscuits) with unabashed gusto, leaves a wake of laughter whenever he dips into the conversation, pays special and apparently delighted attention to the grandmother on his left, enchants the serving maid with two bits and a smile, offers everyone a cigarette, affable under the general disapproval, sings without art a song without merit, sits at last on the door-step in the moonlight, utterly contented, with the dreamy air of the young Hermes (which only means the sense of impending adventure is about his hair like green leaves), and then if that night you dream of a branch of crab-apple blossoms dashed with rain—pursue that youth and entreat him kindly. He hails from Arcady.

A LETTER

We take a great deal of pleasure in reprinting the contents of a letter written to the Cap and Gown by Miss Ethel M. Dell. Miss Dell, as has been stated on a preceding page, visited the United States during the past fall as the Walter Hines Page Senior Scholar. During her visit to this country she honored the Mountain by remaining here for several days.

We close this edition of the Cap and Gown by reprinting the letter of this famous present-day Englishwoman because it makes us feel that every Sewanee man should, for the remainder of his life, strive to further and strengthen the ideals upon which has been built the wonderful tradition and atmosphere of our Alma Mater for these many years.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CAP AND GOWN:

Dear Sir: After making an extensive tour of Canada and the United States of America as the Senior Page Scholar, I was privileged to be the guest of the Hudson Stuck Branch of the English Speaking Union at Sewanee. Here in the beautiful mountains of Tennessee I was brought into close touch with the "University of the South," which, like our two ancient universities in England, is a center of learning and culture. It was not surprising, therefore, to discover that all the activities to be found in and around Sewanee emanate from the University, neither was it astonishing to find something of the traditions and the high ideals an Englishwoman connects with Oxford.

The "University of the South" will always be a very happy memory, and it is my hope that it may long be a shining light in the history of the American continent.

Yours truly,

ETHEL M. DELL.

THE LAST WORD

WE have tried to publish a worthy Cap and Gown, one which will contain everything that has occurred on the campus during the past year and one which appears, in accordance with our promise, on June 11th. We hope that the students and faculty members who have aided us so much will like the 1934 Cap and Gown.

We are deeply indebted to many individuals for their interest and co-operation during the past eleven months and we wish to thank these people. Without their assistance, the annual could never have appeared by Commencement.

The Viscount Halifax, Chancellor of Oxford University, the Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, Miss Ethel M. Dell, and Mr. William Alexander Percy are to be thanked for their contributions.

Miss Clarissa H. Poteat and Mr. Walter Dargan of the Wrigley Engraving Company, Mr. John Benson of the Benson Printing Company, Mr. A. C. Thompson of the University Press, and Mr. Stanley Marques of the Stanley Studios are to be thanked for their co-operative efforts in preparing the physical make-up of the Cap and Gown.

The Nashville Banner and Dr. W. S. Knickerbocker, editor of the Sewanee Review, are to be thanked for their aid.

We thank our advertisers because they have enabled us to place additional features in the annual which we think have added no little to the book.

We also wish to thank Major Henry Gass and Mr. William Crandall for their many helpful suggestions in preparing the theme.

Last of all, we wish to thank our staffs for their invaluable aid throughout the year. It is upon these men that the success of an annual really depends—and if this edition of the Cap and Gown be called a successful publication by its critics, may due credit be given to these men.

ROBERT M. GAMBLE, JR., Editor.
ISAAC BALL III, Manager.

THE UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTH

What Sewanee Stands For—

The Education of the Whole Man—

His body, in a physical environment and training almost ideal.

His mind, through courses in a scientifically correct curriculum, and through contact with a faculty strong in scholarship and personality.

His character, through the constant influence of Christianity as expounded and exemplified in the life of the University community.

The Making of a Citizen—

In theory, through the influence of that ideal of patriotism which we call the Sewanee Spirit.

In practice, through the dynamic living as a citizen in a community of which the student body constitutes the citizenship.

Individuality, Originality, Initiative.

Taught to think independently, plan independently, but to act as a community member.

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT LIGHTING

1. Poor lighting is one of the causes of near-sightedness.
2. It takes 3 times as much light to read a newspaper with the same ease as it does a well-printed book.
3. Reading with the page brightly illuminated and the rest of the room comparatively dark often causes unnecessary eyestrain and fatigue.
4. A person who uses his eyes under poor lighting conditions for prolonged periods frequently suffers more nervous muscular tension than a manual worker.

Why not have one of our Home Lighting Specialists call at your home and help you secure proper lighting? This service is available at no cost.
